

'Where the Sea meets the Sky'

Often described as 'The pearl of Wales on the shores of Snowdonia'. This charming seaside town has a lot to offer, from its historic castle to its wonderful clean, shallow beaches on both sides of the headland.

Criccieth beach is a crescent of sand and shingle that stretches for about a mile along the coast. It is divided into two parts by the rocky outcrop where the 13th century Criccieth Castle stands. The castle is well worth a visit, as it offers stunning views of the bay and the mountains, as well as a glimpse into the medieval history of Wales.

The beach is ideal for families, as it has plenty of space for sunbathing, playing and swimming. The water is clear and calm, and there are lifeguards on duty during the summer months. You can also enjoy some water sports, such as surfing, kayaking and sailing, or explore the rock pools and caves at low tide.

Lovely birthday break - perfect accommodation...

The accommodation is beautifully presented and spotlessly clean. Lovely towels provided, beds comfortable but the view.... was amazing!! So relaxing watching the sea and even saw a dolphin / porpoise! Free on street parking and lovely pubs and places to eat a short walk away.

Beautiful room with Sea view...

Such a beautiful room with the most amazing view. As described on their website, all you can see out of the window is sea & sky! The room is clean and nicely decorated. Facilities were spot on too. Comfy bed (and we're hard to please!), TV fully equipped with freeview, Netflix etc - this was perfect as the 2nd day on our stay was very wet & windy! There was a small kitchen area equipped with kettle, teabags, UHT milk, plates, cutlery and some lovely Christmas chocolate goodies.

There were also little touches such as small bowl and mini washing up liquid - all well organised and everything you needed for a short stay. The bathroom was great. All clean & spotless. Shower was decent and easy to use as well as a non-steamy light up mirror which my other half was very pleased about as he could shave after his shower and still be visible! Hosts were great too - very helpful. I would highly recommend a stay here and will probably be back ourselves (and we don't often go back to the same place twice!).

Exceptional...

What can I say about this absolutely amazing house! The location is breathtaking as is the apartment. The bed was incredibly comfortable in the main room and the bedding was crisp white and smelt fabulous. As we sat at the window we were incredibly lucky to witness dolphins basking in the bay! It was the most amazing thing to witness with my 3 grown children, such a precious memory. Thank you so much for allowing us to have an amazing adventure together. ❤️
